MARKET ANALYSIS

1. Industry Overview

The natural leather industry is a significant part of Egypt's industrial sector. It includes:

- Raw hide collection
- Tanning processes
- Manufacturing of leather products (shoes, bags, belts, garments, etc.)

Egypt benefits from a strong livestock base (over 7.5 million heads of cattle), ensuring a steady supply of raw materials. Egyptian leather, particularly certain grades, is considered among the highest quality globally according to official sources.

MARKET ANALYSIS

2. Market Size & Export Performance

- Leather and leather product exports increased by approximately 25% in 2023 compared to 2022, reaching around $113 million.
- The sector includes:
  - 160+ tanning factories
  - 874 leather goods factories
  - 976 footwear factories

Egypt is expanding its presence in European and Asian markets, especially in high-quality footwear and leather accessories.

While global leather goods markets reach hundreds of billions of dollars, Egypt's market remains a developing but growing contributor within the regional and international supply chain.

INDUSTRY ANALYSIS

Market Opportunities

1- Strong Domestic Demand
Natural leather products are preferred in the local market due to durability and perceived quality.
2- Export Growth Potential
Egyptian leather has export opportunities in Europe and Asia, particularly for premium and mid-range products.
3- Value-Added Manufacturing
Shifting from exporting raw leather to exporting finished goods significantly increases profit margins.
4 -Government Support
Government initiatives aim to modernize the industry, improve infrastructure, and attract foreign investment.

Market Challenges

1 - Outdated Production Technology
Some factories still rely on older equipment, affecting productivity and quality consistency.
2- International Quality Standards
Small and medium manufacturers may struggle to comply with strict export standards.
3 - Production Costs
Although raw hides are locally available, chemicals and machinery are often imported, increasing operational costs.
4- Global Competition
Egypt competes with major leather-producing countries such as Italy, China, Turkey, and India.
